Built on deep technical expertise and large-scale cluster operation experience, ScitiX offers a full-stack platform spanning IaaS, PaaS, and Model Inference, delivering end-to-end support for AI development workflows. We built this program for startups that need serious GPU power without locking themselves into heavy upfront costs or complex infrastructure. We offer a 12-month GPU cloud contract where the 12th month is fully waived, giving you 12 months of guaranteed compute at the cost of 11, with enterprise-grade SLAs and no performance trade-offs. Our standardized 8-GPU node architecture ensures predictable performance, faster scaling, and clean benchmarking as you move from experiments to production. From day one, our technical team works closely with you, starting with a free 7-day testing period, to help validate performance, right-size workloads, and optimize cost before you commit. Throughout the year, we continue to support you across GPU selection, workload design, performance tuning, and scaling strategy, so you can stay focused on building your product while we take care of the infrastructure.
